

How Farm Bureau Served YOU in July

- 1 With a drought ongoing, Illinois Farm Bureau leaders met with members of Illinois' Congressional delegation, discussing the importance of crop insurance in the next farm bill, a solution to Proposition 12 and other agricultural priorities.
- 2 A newly signed law allowing township and road district clerks to come from outside the township is the result of a policy resolution originating in Edwards and Wabash counties.
- 3 Ag literacy specialists from Illinois learned new ways to teach students where their food comes from at the National Agriculture in the Classroom Conference.
- 4 Farmers explored carbon farming concepts during discussions with companies hoping to work with agriculture to help decarbonize their supply chains.
- 5 Young Leaders toured farms and other ag venues in California, gaining a new perspective on the ag industry's diversity and challenges in the Golden State.
